VOLUME XVI. IN THE CAROLINAS.

THE FURY OF THE RETREATING CURRENT.

The Dead and the Dying in Rockingham—The Terrors of a Midnight Tornado—The Disasters in Dartmouth and Winooski—A Super Party Called Out to Their Death.

Today the destruction completes the story of the devastation left by the storm which struck across the state in two lines.
The first intimation the great bulk of the people had of the terrible visitation was from the columns of the Constitution, which, by the rarest management, caught the storm upon its flight and kept track of it until it was lost in the hills of North Carolina.

Today we present some incidents of the disaster in Georgia. Greater detail, however, is given of the progress of the storm in Carolina. In Alabama 40 persons were killed; in Georgia 200; in South Carolina 80, and in Alabama 50, making a total of 370 lives. The loss to property in the four states must be considerably over $2,000,000.

The Destruction in Alabama.

Rock, Ga., February 21.—The Courier of this morning publishes a special from Amherst, Ala., which says: The cyclone which passed from Germania direct to Granville, then through up by the factory and by Frog mountain, killed people by the sections. Old man Wilson, killed the widow Jones and two of Lator's Packer's children were all killed, and at least twenty more will die. No more dead until we get to John Akins.
John Akins's father, mother and one sister are dead—left before we could get them to our house.
Think two of the others will die. Dr. Akins's house, Bill Milton and Bill Brown's gin and barn all gone. All the Akers' women and Dr. Pace White's wife are badly injured. Zack Brown and two of his children were killed dead. Zack Brown was torn to pieces. I cannot tell half. I was down there Friday evening and helped carry the dead away.
Mules, cows and everything was destroyed. The entire section was in ruins. There will be at least eighty deaths made here to day. John A. Poe was
single thing left him on earth but his mules, and we think two of them will die.

A RAIN OF RECOLLECTORS.

Dallas Turner, who resides about nine miles from Turner, reports that Tuesday's storm he found a considerable quantity of bedding and furniture scattered over his farm. He does not know where it came from, but it must have been blown a considerable distance.

The Wind at Talladega, Alabama.

Talladega, February 21.—The rain has fallen every day for the past days. The river is very high and still rising. On last Tuesday evening we were visited by a terrific wind and rain, no roofing the new brick storehouses of Dr. I. M. Stephens and W. L. Echols. The tin roofing, rafters, all, were buried directly over the store. The store was blown down, and in two minutes would have been standing in front of the building. The team was owned by a poor, hard-working farmer, and the citizens made up a small purse and presented him.

The Weather vein on the Kiltfrenn house was blown away, and Wilson & Bros. flouring mill suffered considerably.

A Neb's Act.

Birmingham, Ala., February 21.—Sufficient straggling news of the cyclone continues coming in to make it the general topic of conversation. There are no additional reports of the storm. A negro man at Brock's Gap, during the hardest part of the storm, ran half a mile up the Louisville and Nashville track through the terrible hail and rain to flag the down freight train he knew to be coming. The flagging train was coming at full speed, down grade, and in two minutes would have crashed into the fallen trees, enough to tear every car to pieces.

Two freight trains on the Louisville and Nashville road collided near Calera this afternoon. No lives were lost. The track will be obstructed several hours by the smashed cars.

The Story of Cave Spring.

Cave Spring, February 21.—A gentleman says: I stepped upon my porch at 12 o'clock and found miles away in the southwest, a cloud, black as ink, resembling in shape a school boy's top, and turning as rapidly, seemingly, as ever a boy in his pride made his top to whirl. The small end of the funnel danced along upon the earth, drawing into it the fatal vacuum every thing within its reach. The air, similar to that of a more railway train, was almost deafening. In a few moments our beautiful village would have been a mass of ruins. A few miles away, under the guidance of an unseen hand, its course was turned and the cyclone followed the way.

Near the Alabama line there are no less than fourteen or fifteen families homeless and peniless. Within five miles of this place one dozen families are homeless.

THE DEATH OF MR. CHASE.

The death of Mr. Chase, especially sad, his wife had just left home to visit a friend, Miss Georgia Hight, at Anniston, Alabama, who was ill and who died yesterday. This good lady was called from the death bed of a valued friend to view a home in utter ruin, and to see her husband a mangled corpse.

One of the daughters is absent in Charleston S. C.

the other two were at a friend's at the time Mr.
Gaillard was killed. This family is highly considered in South Carolina, and Mr. Gaillard served as a private in the Confederate army, having volunteered with the first soldiers leaving his native state. This family lost not only their home but everything of value that was in the house; loss estimated at about $2,000.

A Strange Story From Hound.

NEWMAN, Ga., February 21.—Mr. J. R. Sims, who lives in Hound county, tells a curious cyclone story.
He was at the house of W. T. Meriwether, his brother-in-law. He says:
"When I heard the storm coming I knew what it was, for I'd been in cyclones before. I ran to the door and looked out. The funnel-shaped cloud was coming, with the lower edge curling, and as white as snow. I braced myself against the door, catching my side with one hand. Instantly the cloud caught us. The house was shattered in flashes, and we were thrown to the ground. I was deserted and stunned. When I came to my senses the right leg of my breeches was torn off and gone.
And, incredible as it sounds, the sole of my right shoe had been wrenched off and the upper stock of the shoe hung around my ankle."

"Had the house disappeared?"

"There was not a trace of it left. The place where it stood was as clean as a floor. There was not a morsel of food left—a piece of crockery—literally nothing. The corn-cry had gone and the corn with it. The same was true at Mr. B. F. Grady's and Mr. Columbus Bird's. The destruction is complete. Not a stitch of clothing, food or furniture is to be found where two days ago stood happy and prosperous homes."

Destruction at Talladega and Darbyboro.

TENNESSEE, Ga., February 21.—I have visited Darbyboro and viewed the destruction left on the track of the terrible cyclone that passed over the place last night, and I am not able to give you an idea how terrible and destructive it was. I never saw so much destruction in so small a space. The large warehouse built of brick was completely demolished and some of the top was blown over into Opechee swamp, five miles off. Among the sufferers are the following: Cornelius Jordan, dwelling about a mile and a half from the place, and his wife and child were killed. Mrs. Kennedy, house badly damaged; all of her outbuildings blown away, including a storehouse.

T. L. Brown—store blown down and a large stock of goods blown away and otherwise damaged.
Two of his children were killed.

Brown and Hall—store blown down and goods scattered in every direction.

Dr. A. T. Cheatham—store blown down and a stock of drugs entirely ruined.

Henderson's sons lost their store and goods.

John Hudson's wife badly hurt by her house falling on her.

Dr. A. T. Cheatham's house was badly injured and his barn and stables demolished.

Messrs. Gibbs Bros., blacksmith and carriage shop entirely ruined, as well as contents.

John L. Palmer lost his store and goods and had his dwelling unroofed.

Mr. Abe Hadman also lost his store and stock of goods.

Mr. William Varen, who managed the wood rack and water tank of the Central railroad was killed by some pieces of flying timber.

It is not safe to say that the owner saved 2,700 pounds, that had been blown away from the store fully fifty feet from where it had stood. Persons in the cyclone said that it did not last over a minute, and that it was over before they could run.

Mr. McCullers said that he saw the cyclone coming, and deeming the house he was in unsafe he went to move his family to the warehouse, but he did not have time, as the house they were in did not blow away, but the warehouse did.

Dr. Acker's house, Bill Milton and Bill Brown's gin and barn all gone. All the Akers' women and Dr. Pace White's wife are badly injured. Zack Brown and two of his children were killed dead. Zack Brown was torn to pieces. I cannot tell half. I was down there Friday evening and helped carry the dead away.
Mules, cows and everything was destroyed. The entire section was in ruins. There will be at least eighty deaths made here to day. John A. Poe was
single thing left him on earth but his mules, and

end, as I look back at it, there is not a step that I have taken in it that does not meet the approval of my judgment and my conscience. I have been true to the jury and to the law the jury alone could pass upon them. The courts say it is final. If I may be allowed to utter words of advice to you, it would be to seek the exercise of those who are good and who are wise. I can but commend the spirit in which you meet this terrible and awful task.

The usual form the court then directed that the prisoner be taken to Atlanta, there to be safely kept until brought back to Greenville in time to be executed on Friday, the 18th of April. The execution of those who are condemned to be private and as he concluded his remarks Turner's wife and mother broke out in piercing screams and exclamations that would have drawn the eyes of nearly every spectator. The prisoner was remanded to the county jail where he remained until yesterday morning, when he was taken to the city hall to await his trial. He was met by Mr. T. S. Wright who brought him to Atlanta. It is said that an effort will be made to induce the governor to commute the death sentence. The prisoner is now in the city hall being hung for killing John E. Shuttles, in June 1881. Turner was hung in December, 1882 and sentenced to be hung in February following. The execution of the prisoner will appeal to the supreme court, which tribunal last fall affirmed the verdict of the court below.

MR. MOTE SIMMONS SICK.

The City Lamp Light's Constellation Gives Way Yesterday it was currently rumored throughout the city that Mr. Mote Simmons, the city lamp light collector, had been so ill that there was no hope for his return to reason.

The rumor was carefully investigated by a Constable reporter. Mr. Simmons is a bona fide life insurance man, of a good character, as well as of a mental nature, and it is said by his physicians that the recovery of the one will be the restoration of the other. Mr. Simmons has been ill for more than a year. He was advised months ago to take a rest, but he declined to do so, even when his physicians predicted a severe illness unless he would rest so. Mr. Simmons was for two years a member of the Atlanta police force, and has been a life insurance man since he left. He is a man of a good constitution. Several months ago he was elected lamp lighter, and since then he has been doing his duty as well as a patrolman. Several times he has had severe attacks of vertigo, which confined him to his room for a number of days. This was followed by three or four similar attacks. Recently he has been somewhat impaired. At times he was "dizzy" and then again his reason would assert its sway. A few days ago he was seized with such a severe attack of vertigo that he has prostrated him completely mentally and physically. His many friends hope to learn of his entire recovery soon.

No. 4. Argument concluded. The court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. to-morrow.

CITY COURT.

In this court yesterday a motion for a new trial was argued in the case of Mrs. Nancy E. Pittman vs. the Georgia railroad. The plaintiff had recovered a verdict for $20,000 for the killing of her husband Richard Pittman. The jury found for the plaintiff, bringing in a verdict for $5,000. Defendant's counsel moved for a new trial. The motion was overruled.

In the case of Brady vs. the city of Atlanta where the plaintiff obtained a verdict for $20,000 for the falling from a bridge, the city moved for a new trial. The motion was argued yesterday, and the new trial granted.

COMMISSIONER SMITH'S DECISION.

Commissioner Smith, yesterday, rendered his decision in the case of John Jones, who had been indicted for conspiracy with Jones's defense was that he was not the man who committed the crime as alleged. Commissioner Smith, after due consideration of the evidence, rendered his decision in favor of the man wanted, and therefore discharged him. Several John Jones' have already been arrested in this case, and even the man who was indicted for the crime. The Commissioner Smith now has before him the case of a man who is charged with working in an unregistered distillery in Forsyth county.

Commissioner Pirkie had before him yesterday the case of a man who was charged with working in an unregistered distillery in Forsyth county. She was sent to jail in default of bond.

LIBRARY NOTES.

The popularity of "Dr. Claudius" remains undiminished.

Statistics of the population of the United States, at the tenth census, can now be found at the library.

The tenth volume of the records of the war of 1812, and the records of the war of 1812, have been placed in the history alcove.

The new catalogue is progressing finely, and the indications are that it will be ready for the public in a few days. It will be of great convenience to the members and a great credit to the city.

Owing to some misunderstanding the publishers failed to receive several of the books of reference of the popular periodicals, whose absence from the files has disappointed many of the frequenters of the pleasant reading rooms.

The board of directors desire to secure the services of several competent canvassers. They want to canvass the entire city, and good terms will be offered good canvassers. They will be paid for their services. The library, or at 4 o'clock to day to the president, Mr. Charles E. Harman, who will be in attendance at the library.

It is a strong evidence of their comprehensive character of the studies that the children of the public schools frequent the library. Composition days are a rush for encyclopedias and other books of reference. The board of directors desire to secure the services of several competent canvassers. of many motherly hearts, and not a few exaltation men by her representation of both characters.—New York Sunday Dispatch.

Little Evee at Opera House.
The above named popular little star, although making her first appearance in our city at the opera house Tuesday night, February 26, has already been the subject of most favorable comment. Her well earned fame as a bright light in the sublimated school of acting has reached us through the channels of the highest authority, and we feel fully justified in our enthusiastic recommendation. Her debut has proved one of unqualified delight and satisfaction to the audience.

The leading banner says: "Her style is so completely catholic in the extreme she is easy, natural and graceful, full of life, animation and sprightliness as the untutored jerry wail and subduing her audience to perfect sympathy by her delicate and exquisite interpretation of sentiment. She far exceeds many who have preceded her in this line of acting, and carries laurels by native talent." She is truly a child of nature."

Simmons Trips.
Wednesday, at the residence of Miss Mary Roddy, on Houston street, Mr. A. G. Simmons, a well known and prominent young man of Macon, son of Judge Thomas J. Simmons, was united in marriage to Miss Annie Roddy, of this city. Rev. T. H. Kendall performed the ceremony in a simple but most impressive manner. The attendants were: Miss Mary Roddy, Mr. Francis M. Powers, Miss Georgia Freeman and Mr. Azell Freeman, Macon.

Miss Annie Hargreaves, Barnsville, and Mr. L. Whitcomb.

Only a few friends and relatives were present. The bride is a daughter of Hon. R. P. Triple, and was recognized as one of the most accomplished young ladies of Georgia. ## THE "Government House."

A very fair audience at DeWitt's last night Baker and Farson in their new comedy, "The Government House." The play was a lively running melody of nonsense, music and dancing. The piece has plenty of "size" in it, and that is the main thing in a comedy. Last night Mr. Baker as "Kakey" and Mr. Farson as "Por-poral Mulcahey," kept the audience in a rue from the first to the last. A small amount of money had been stolen from a cash box and it was supposed the thief had entered to cover his tracks by firing the piece. The damage was slight.

A Cleverness.

Editors CONSTITUTION: I note in your remarks about the Kiblah house this morning that you locate Messrs. Fisher, Leaf & Co., at Cincinnati.
Permit me to correct the error, as they are among the largest manufacturers of Louisville. They are represented here by Messrs. Hunslett & Bellingrath, through whom the order was placed.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. O. Harris is suffering from an attack of rheumatism and will be confined to his room for several days.
Mr. J. W. Rucker and lady left for Florida yesterday and will be absent for several weeks.
Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Prather and their daughter passed through Atlanta last week on their way to Florida.

Mr. James B. Brown of the Henry County Working, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Brown says that the Weekly has attained a circulation of more than 1,000. The Weekly is one of the best of our exchanges and deserves the priority.

Mr. C. D. Owens is in the city and has been with him some friends. Whenever they give him a higher heart than Charles Owens carries, they will have to give him an annex to carry it in.

Ladies and sickly girls requiring a non-alcoholic, gentle stimulant, will find Brown's Iron Tonic beneficial.

Lots, and Seven Vacant Lots.

At the Court House Door, Tuesday March 4, 1884.

LOT NO. 1 IS ONE OF THE MOST CENTRAL properties in the city, and just such property as capitalists have been long seeking.
The buildings, while not first class, are paying handsomely, and with a number one building on the lot, will make one of the most desirable corners to be found. Lot No. 2 is a good Whitehall street store, two stories, with basement, new and well built, with a substantial roof warehouse in rear, with an alley approach from Mitchell street.
Both of these pieces of property are such as are only offered in Atlanta at administrator's or execu-tor's sale. Men living will sell such property as the lot, will make one of the most desirable corners to be found. Lot No. 3 is a good Whitehall street store, two stories, with basement, new and well built, with a substantial roof warehouse in rear, with an alley approach from Mitchell street.
Both of these pieces of property are such as are only offered in Atlanta at administrator's or execu-tor's sale. Men living will sell such property as the lot, will make one of the most desirable corners to be found. Lot No. 3 is a good Whitehall
